How do I get perfect wedding flowers?

Spectacular wedding flowers can be easy with an experienced wedding florist to guide you. Ask friends, relatives, and your reception venue for recommendations. Then, once you've selected gowns for the bridal party, call your florist to schedule a meeting. Bring pictures or fabric swatches of the dresses, along with any magazine clippings of wedding flowers you find appealing.

Ask about options and seasonal values. Be open to suggestions, too. For example, pale pinks, peaches and whites are always popular, but many brides today are opting for more fashion-forward colors. An experienced florist will advise you, work with you and create just the right designs for your taste and budget. So, you and your guests can celebrate in style.
